

BRETT ELLIOTT FRANKLIN
COUNTY SUPERVISOR, 1ST DISTRICT
SHORT TERM

I'm proud to have been Vice Mayor and two-term Councilman of Orange County's largest city. I've fought to reduce crime and taxes, bring good jobs to the region, and improve the quality of life in every neighborhood. I'll bring the same energy, leadership, and integrity to the Board of Supervisors.

The son of a USMC pilot and a registered nurse, I was born and raised in Orange County, and have run a successful business here for two decades. After graduating from Santa Ana High, I earned a Bachelor's Degree in Business and Economics from Westmont Christian College.

I met my wife Rossette, a bilingual teacher of disabled students, while attending language school in Costa Rica. We've chosen to raise our children in central Orange County because we value the diversity and vitality of the hardworking people here.

I've overseen a balanced budget in each of eight years as a Councilman. I support partnerships between local government and our churches, temples, and other faith based communities for their leadership in helping to provide social services in lean times.

I'll cut through political gridlock to make sure the county gets its fair share of state and federal resources, whether for street repairs, schools, or homeland security.
