

HANS KEIRSTEAD

DEMOCRATIC

Neuroscientist/Professor/Entrepreneur

Washington is a mess and we need someone in Congress who will hold President Trump accountable. I'm tired of this administration's lies, its attacks on facts and science, and its efforts to rollback protections for our environment and women's healthcare. Their policies are dividing our country and rigging the system for people at the top.

I didn't grow up with much, but I knew I wanted to help people. I've dedicated my life to being a healthcare professional, finding ways to prevent or cure illnesses rather than treat symptoms.

I served for 15 years as Professor of Anatomy and Neurobiology at UC Irvine, and have founded and led successful companies in healthcare. We developed the first stem cell treatment that's helped paralyzed individuals use their limbs again, and we're currently in clinical trials with groundbreaking treatments for brain and ovarian cancer.

I'm running for Congress because I want to use evidence and facts to stop President Trump's dangerous agenda, create real change, and improve lives – passing Medicare for All to reduce healthcare costs, protecting Social Security and Medicare from cuts, and preventing offshore oil drilling. I'm 100% pro-choice and will stand for Planned Parenthood. And I'll treat gun violence as a public health problem and fight for commonsense reforms that save lives.

I'm honored to be the candidate endorsed by the California Democratic Party, the National Union of Healthcare Workers, the Teamsters, and backed by dozens of local leaders. I hope to earn your vote.
