DEMOCRATIC

Community College Boardmember

For the second time in six years our State Senate District has been without representation. These scandals have left us without an advocate for our working families, schools and businesses. I am running for State Senate to be the fighter who puts our community first.

My seven siblings and I were raised by immigrant parents, who instilled the value of education and community service. I attended Columbia University before finishing at Whittier College after the birth of my son. I struggled to provide for my son but with my college degree I built a career advocating for disabled workers and started my own business in this field.

I grew frustrated with how government served these workers so I changed careers. As a single mother, my son and I moved across the country where I earned a Master's Degree in Public Policy from Harvard University. I returned to my home in the City of Whittier and worked as Senior Legislative Deputy to L.A County Supervisor Gloria Molina.

There, I helped roll out the LA Universal Preschool initiative and oversaw all of the County's law enforcement agencies. Now working at the Los Angeles County Probation Department, I run five units of 40 county employees while serving on the Rio Hondo Community College Board of Trustees. I love helping kids find more opportunities and am proud that we provide free first-year tuition.

I'll be your fighter in Sacramento to strengthen education, open doors to economic opportunity, and end the culture of harassment so that all employees can feel safe in the workplace.
