

VANESSA DELGADO
Mayor/Housing Advocate

DEMOCRATIC

Vanessa Delgado is an affordable housing advocate, small business owner, and public servant, with proven experience as a Los Angeles County Commissioner and Mayor of Montebello.

Growing up in an immigrant, working-class family in Pico Rivera, Vanessa's parents taught her the values of hard work, sacrifice, and community service as well as the important link between a quality education and a good job.

After graduating from Stanford and USC, Vanessa dedicated her life to helping others, fighting for a better future for working families, children, and seniors in our community.

Vanessa Delgado is a Problem Solver who delivers results:

- Helped balance city budgets, while protecting vital services like public safety and programs for youth and seniors

- Expanded affordable housing for hundreds of local working families, veterans, and seniors

- Delivered economic investment that created 15,000 regional jobs

- Attracted new companies and businesses to open locally, with new job opportunities

- Supported efforts to expand access to health care and improve local schools

"Career politicians have failed us for too long. In the State Senate, I will stand up to the special interests and put an end to the 'good old boy network.'"

"With your support, I will bring new energy and experience as a public servant and problem solver to work for you... delivering new solutions and positive results for our schools, neighborhoods, and local families." -Vanessa Delgado
